I'm not understanding this message, are you saying the canvassers annoyed the people? By not assisting fast enough? Or by too many of us? I don't understand what the problem was.

We got some feedback that to remind canvassers that referendum and candidates are both important.

In fact, candidates are more important, since referendum, even if successful, doesn't do much unless we have a majority of sensible council members.

Without a majority of sensible council members, projects will just get bigger each time. Outside advocacy groups will dominate our local policies as they've done.

Vallco is now, Oaks will follow along and attempt to match Vallco's density and height. That's why Oaks developer, KT Urban, funds flyers for Hung Wei, Savita and Mahoney.

Even those who hesitate to sign the referendum, we can ask them to support our candidates, since our candidates will keep both the city staff and developers accountable. If we don't want to sign more referendums, elect council members who put residents first. Elect council members who won't rubber stamp such big decisions with negotiations on community benefits done behind closed doors.

The city council is definitely accountable the potential misconduct of its own employees when the city staff declare questionable project compliant to SB 35.

Neighborhood canvassers must coordinate coverage areas with your Lead and Xiaowen.

One neighbor of a volunteer said 4 different people stopped by last weekend for signatures. They got annoyed and the husband didn't want to sign anymore.

We need to get into the neighborhoods. But we shouldn't duplicate the efforts. We don't have time and we don't want to harass people.

Hi Everyone,

We had excellent volunteer turnout Monday evening at the library, but attendance by the public was low.

With many volunteers and few signers, we need to get into neighborhoods.

For tonight, Tuesday, 10/16/2018, let's set up 1 long table and 4 chairs at the library booth. Keep flyers and giveaway bags at the booth, but leave most other items at home.

Ideal booth support on non-weekend days: 2 sets of books, one verifier, and 1-2 people to engage with booth visitors or attract the public to the booth.

Above 4-5 people, let's get people partnered up into the neighborhoods. The neighborhoods immediately south and east of the library are assigned to me and need in-person outreach, so that is an easy place to start.

Can anyone replenish the Referendum flyer in time for this afternoon's outreach work? It's a good leave behind for homes where no one answers.

Also, whoever has the suitcase, the router is inside and needs to be charged today, if possible.

Who can volunteer at the library or to Canvass neighborhoods with a partner tonight from 4-7 pm (later if busy)?

Thank you,

Liana

Okay, let's stick with 4-7 pm, but if we discover a workaround with the lighting, such as using phones, and people are coming, then we can stay later.

7-9pm near library will be difficult due to poor lighting, if there is any alternate location, I am willing to be there between 7-9 pm

Thanks

Please confirm the time we should advertise for the Referendum Pop Up Booth.

My understanding was that the booth will be open from 4-9 pm tonight, but I see social media postings that say 4-7 pm.

Thank you,

Liana
