On Tuesday, July 19 the Cupertino City Council unanimously appointed Pamela Wu as the new Cupertino City Manager. Her first day with the City was Monday, August 29.

Wu brings more than 20 years of public sector experience to the City of Cupertino. She recently served as the City of San Bruno's Community and Economic Development Director. Wu is a Lynbrook High School graduate who grew up in the Cupertino area and holds a bachelor's degree from UC Berkeley. She is married with two grown children, who are both graduates of Fremont High School.

"I'm grateful for the opportunity and the City Council's confidence in me," said Wu. "I'm also honored and look forward to leading the City and also to being part of the community."

National Preparedness Month in Cupertino

Emergency preparedness is a team sport, and the community are starting players. This September, we build our community resilience during National Preparedness Month. Taking the time to prepare with our neighbors may help us to save lives, and recover quickly when disaster strikes. Being ready is a shared responsibility. Plan ahead to take care of yourself and your community.

Be Ready, Set, Go!

In an emergency such as a wildfire, residents and visitors may need to evacuate. Be ready ahead of time. If you feel in danger, leave immediately. Do not wait to be told to evacuate! The City of Cupertino, together with our public safety partners from Santa Clara County Sheriff's Office and Santa Clara County Fire Department, works year-round to coordinate our efforts, but we need your help. For more information about what you can do, visit the City website at cupertino.org/our-city/emergency-preparedness.

For information about preparing specifically for a wildfire, visit readyforwildfire.org.

START HERE: TAKE THESE STEPS TO PLAN FOR EVACUATION...

1. Sign up for alerts at alertscc.org:

If you do not sign up, you will not receive these important alerts. AlertSCC provides you with the right information at the right time and will help you make the right decisions to stay safe during an emergency or disaster.

2. Know Your Zone:

Zonehaven provides specific, timely, and accurate information regarding evacuations. The City has integrated evacuation zones into the ServiceFinder at gis.cupertino.org/servicefinder/

3. Know your neighbors, plan with your neighbors:

Take the time to talk with your community about evacuation plans. Sharing information and resources beforehand can save time and lives in an evacuation.

4. Know these terms:

Evacuation Order: There is an immediate threat to life. This is a lawful order to leave immediately. The area under evacuation order is now lawfully closed to public access.

Evacuation Warning: There is a potential threat to life or property. Those who require additional time to evacuate, and those with pets or livestock should leave now.

Shelter in Place: Go indoors. Shut and lock doors and windows. Prepare to stay until further notice from emergency personnel.

Evacuation Order(s) Lifted: Evacuation orders in a specific area have been officially lifted.

Connect with Your Neighborhood by Volunteering

Personal and neighborhood preparedness is key in being able to withstand any emergency that we may face. Volunteering with the City will help you plan to take care of yourself, your family, and your neighborhood. Programs include Block Leaders, Neighborhood Watch, and Cupertino Citizen Corps. Citizen Corps includes Cupertino Emergency Response Team (CERT), Medical Reserve Corps (MRC), and Cupertino Amateur Radio in Emergency Services (CARES). Each program has a different level of expectations and training requirements.

Many residents are a member in all programs, but you may choose to focus your time in one or more areas:

The Block Leader Program teaches residents how to get to know neighbors and organize activities so neighbors can more easily communicate. Block leaders receive updates on neighborhood activities and services and are vital links between the City and the neighborhoods.

Neighborhood Watch is a crime prevention program that enlists the active participation of residents in cooperation with law enforcement to reduce crime in their communities. Neighborhood Watch encourages neighbors getting to know each other and working together in a program of mutual assistance.

The Cupertino Citizen Corps make a difference in our community with volunteers trained to support local emergency responders, provide disaster relief, and promote community safety. Be ready to respond to a disaster as part of Cupertino's Citizen Corps team by joining the Cupertino Amateur Radio Emergency Service, Cupertino Emergency Response Team, or the Medical Reserve Corps.

To volunteer or get more information, email oem@cupertino.org

Get Involved this September

The City of Cupertino is working with our community to be ready for whatever comes our way.

You can participate in National Preparedness Month by taking specific actions each week:

For more information, visit ready.gov.

Free Personal and Family Emergency Preparedness classes are available virtually on Wednesday, September 21. Visit cupertino.org/calendar and find the event to register.

Visit an ARK Open House! ARKs serve as supply caches for community emergency response, and central gathering locations for volunteers to support the City in an emergency. Each weekend in September Citizen Corps will host two ARK open houses in a different part of the City to share information about the ARKs, and promote community engagement in neighborhood preparedness. See firsthand how your role as a resident is needed to help yourself and the City after an emergency. To volunteer with the Citizen Corps, or to get more information about emergency preparedness, email oem@cupertino.org.

City of Cupertino Housing and Human Services Grants Program 2022-2023

The City's Housing and Human Services Grants Program provides funding to local agencies that serve low- and moderate-income households located within Cupertino. The Housing Division is responsible for the administration of the City's Housing and Human Services Grants Program, which includes the City's Below Market Rate (BMR) Affordable Housing Fund (AHF) Program, and General Fund Human Service Grants (HSG) Program, as well as the federally funded Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. In Fiscal Year 2022-2023, the City awarded $505,433 in grant funding to the following local agencies who will provide services at no cost to Cupertino residents.

Catholic Charities of Santa Clara County – Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program

The Ombudsman Program at Catholic Charities of Santa Clara County is the advocate for the most at-risk citizens in Cupertino and Santa Clara County – those who live in nursing homes and assisted living facilities. They advocate for the dignity, rights, and needs of seniors and disabled in those facilities. The main function of the Ombudsman Program is to investigate and resolve complaints made by or on behalf of residents related to issues of quality of care and abuse. Ombudsman protects and helps improve the quality of care and life for the most vulnerable of our senior and disabled population.

The Ombudsman Program investigates elder abuse; resolves complaints; mediates conflicts; gives referrals to residents and their family, friends, and roommates; and more. All their services are free to residents, their family, and friends.

For more information, visit catholiccharitiesscc.org.

Live Oak Adult Day Services – Senior Adult Day Care and Caregiver Respite

Live Oak Adult Day Services is a nonprofit organization that has been serving seniors in Cupertino for 19 years on the campus of St. Jude's Episcopal Church.

Live Oak's mission is twofold: to enhance the lives of seniors who are unable to live independently and to provide respite for their caregivers. Live Oak Provides a specialized day program for elderly, dependent adults aged 60 years or over who suffer from Alzheimer's Disease, Parkinson's Disease, and other conditions. Their program runs Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The program includes daily exercise, nutritious meals, socialization activities, music, art, and cognitive stimulation. Their hope is that the program instills a sense of purpose and dignity in seniors, and allows them to age-in-place.

For more information, contact Lisa Lenoci, Program Director or Ann Peterson, Executive Director at (408) 973-0905, or visit liveoakadultdaycare.org.

Project Sentinel – Fair Housing, Tenant-Landlord Counseling, and Dispute Resolution Services

Having a challenge with your landlord or tenant? Project Sentinel can help! Their Dispute Resolution Program helps to resolve disputes and provides helpful information regarding evictions, deposits, repairs, rent increases, nonpayment of rent, and other housing issues.

When you call Project Sentinel, a housing counselor will help answer your questions. Comprehensive services include counseling and information on rights and responsibilities of all parties, resource referrals, and conciliation and mediation. Their Fair Housing Center can also assist to address housing discrimination and enforce protections under the law.

All services are free and confidential. For more information, call (800) 339-6043 or visit housing.org.

Rebuilding Together Silicon Valley (RTSV) – Housing Repair and Rehabilitation Program

RTSV is the only organization in Santa Clara County that provides critical repairs at no cost to low-income homeowners and nonprofit facilities by leveraging volunteer labor.

RTSV serves homeowners who cannot afford to make repairs or modifications to their homes, and whose independence and safety are jeopardized by the condition of their home. RTSV could not provide life-changing repairs for low-income neighbors without the generous support of their sponsors.

For more information on applying for repairs, volunteer opportunities, or supporting their work, call (408) 578-9519, visit rtsv.org, or email info@rtsv.org.

West Valley Community Services (WVCS) – Community Access to Resources & Education (CARE), and Haven to Home Programs

The CARE program seeks to ensure that households living in poverty have easy access to public benefits, supportive services, and education resources that help families build financial and household stability. CARE achieves this goal by providing case management, benefits assistance, financial education and coaching, free income tax preparation assistance, and workshops and clinics. In addition, clients can also participate in a host of supportive services offered by WVCS, including access to the food pantry, emergency financial assistance to prevent homelessness, housing resources and referrals, and other resources. For more information contact Jhoana Diaz at (408) 956-6096 or jhoanad@wvcommunityservices.org.

The Haven to Home Supportive Services program offers resources to homeless individuals and families. Through case management, clients are able to utilize services specifically tailored toward homeless needs. The program aims to help clients navigate the system of services and move towards stability and self-sufficiency. While working with a case manager, Haven to Home clients are eligible to receive bus passes, food, participate in special programs, and financial assistance when stable housing is found. For more information contact Elizabeth Olmos at (408) 618-6229 or elizabetho@wvcommunityservices.org.

In a Drought, You've Got to Help Out

Cupertino's water supply is in a state of emergency with worsening drought conditions. California's Water Authority, Valley Water, and your water providers are creating new protocols for residents and businesses.

Although watering times and specific rules vary depending on where you live, here are some best practices for everyone to comply with local, regional, and state regulations:

1. Limit watering of lawns, landscape, and turf areas to no more than two days per week and no more than 15 minutes of watering per day per station or irrigation zone.
 - a. Per California State law, Homeowner Association (HOA) and commercial properties must stop watering decorative turf and grass immediately.
 - b. Do not water outside plants or landscaping within 48 hours after significant rainfall.
2. Continue watering trees with just enough water, avoid overwatering.
3. Adjust outdoor watering systems to avoid runoff onto non-landscaped areas including walkways, roads, parking lots, or structures.
4. Do not use water to clean driveways or sidewalks, instead use a broom.

5. Wash your car at a commercial facility that recirculates the water.
6. Do not use water in a water feature, except where the water is part of a recirculating system or needed to sustain aquatic life in lakes or ponds.
7. Check for hidden leaks by reading your water meter when all devices are off.
8. Fix leaks or broken plumbing features as soon as possible or within 72 hours after noticing issue.

You can report wasted water to the City of Cupertino's Code Enforcement or your water retailer. Water rates have changed to make water waste even more expensive for homeowners. Commercial properties may be subject to fines for watering non-functional turf grass.

Converting your landscape to be drought tolerant is the best way to save water, and Cupertino has now made it easier than ever. In 2021, Cupertino's City Council passed a resolution to waive some planning fees for large sites that want to remove their turf grass. To learn more, contact sustainability@cupertino.org.

To learn more about drought conditions, resources for water savings, and how to report water waste, visit cupertino.org/drought.

Drop and Go: Return Library Books with Ease

Cupertino Library patrons now have a new and convenient way to drop off their books! This new drive-through return allows patrons to drop off their library materials without parking or leaving their vehicle.

The book return is now available to use with initial operating hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For more information, call the Cupertino Library at (408) 446-1677.

Come Ride at the Fall Bike Fest

Join us on Saturday, September 24 for the City's annual Fall Bike Fest! This year, the festival is moving to a different but nearby location: Civic Center Plaza and Torre Avenue. The avenue will be closed to cars for the occasion to make way for the event. This new location is sure to provide a much more festive atmosphere!

Activities: Cupertino Safe Routes to School is working with partners to bring bike education and fun to this event! Get your bike and helmet checked, decorate your bike, make a smoothie on the blender bike, create bike-themed art and poetry on flags and buttons, join a family bike ride, and kids - go through "Safe Moves City," a mini bicycle course to learn to be a safe cyclist.

Contests: You can win a prize (paid for by Santa Clara County's 2016 Measure B funds) for several categories at this year's event: youngest rider, oldest rider, biggest group (bring your friends to the festival!), most eye-catching group theme (PG-rated outfits only please; this is a family event!), and biggest bike capacity (can you beat the 12-grocery-bag record?).

Rides: There will be two bike rides this year. A 2.5 mile ride will go through parks and include activity stops along the way. An 8 mile ride will highlight infrastructure projects the City is working on that will make Cupertino even more bike-friendly than it already is.

Come have fun and learn!
